Science - Rocks and Soils Sedimentary rocks Igneous

Why are there no fossils in igneous rocks?

Key Knowledge:

Geologists study rocks.

Different kinds of rocks can be sorted based on their appearance and simple physical properties.

Materials change state such as Igneous rocks which form when molten rock (magma or lava) cools and solidifies.

Sedimentary rocks originate when particles settle out of water or air, or by precipitation of minerals from water. They accumulate in layer.

Metamorphic rocks result when existing rocks are changed by heat, pressure, or reactive fluids, such as hot, mineral-laden water

Fossils are formed when things that have lived there are trapped within rock. Soils are made from rocks and organic matter.

Key Vocabulary:

Properties: characteristic or trait that you can use to describe the object Absorbent: Absorbents are different types of materials which can soak up liquid Fossils: the remains or traces of plants and animals that live a long time ago Sedimentary: are formed from sediment grains deposited by water, wind or ice Igneous: rocks that have formed by the cooling and hardening of molten lava or magma Metamorphic: rocks are formed when other rocks are affected by great temperatures and

History Focus

How was the Viking raid on England significant for Northern Britain?

Key Knowledge

The Vikings first raided Britain in 793 AD. There was only one Anglo-Saxon kingdom left (Wessex), which King Alfred the Great ruled.

In AD 978, Danegeld was introduced by King Ethelred 2nd. Changes were made to the laws to pay Vikings to leave. The results were bad because the Vikings realised, they could keep invading and get paid.

Viking life included living on farms where they grew their own crops and reared animals. Jewellery was worn as a symbol of wealth. The Viking letters were called runes.

Anglo-Saxon punishments were harsh, yet the Viking punishments were more civilised. Some of the punishments such as fines and compensation are still used today in Britain.

In AD 1066, King Harold fought William the Conqueror in the Battle of Hastings. William the Conqueror and his troops were victorious. The Viking and Anglo-Saxon age came to an end. The Normans would go on to rule

Invasion: The act of invading or entering to control a place

Raid: A short, sudden attack to steal something. Resistance: Refusal to accept or comply with something. Danegeld: A tax raised to pay the Viking raiders to save the land. Laws: System of rules which are considered right and important. Justice: Fairness, moral rightness Significant: Important or the meaning of something.
